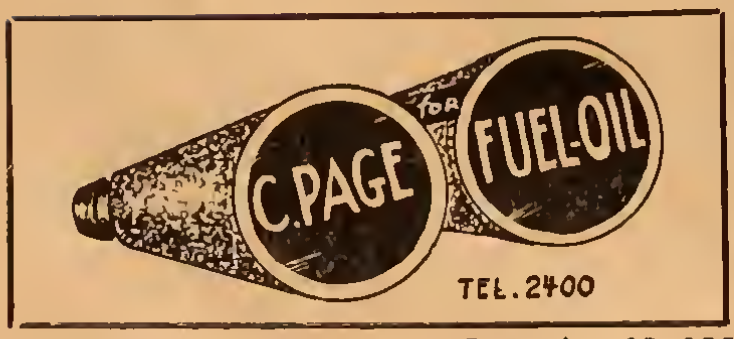
December 25, 1952

Dear Neighbors:

We can't thank you enough and we can't tell you how much Christmas means to us this year, for it is the beginning of a wonderful new life. God bless you and keep you and yours

The Tom Topics Christmas Family



May we take this occasion to extend to the Princeton community our thorough appreciation of its past patronage and our heartiest wishes for a pleasant holiday season and prosperous new year.

Topics of the Town

Christmas Story. Princeton is not the same community it was a brief fortnight ago. In the short space of two weeks, hundreds of its residents have paused in their day's activities to make sure that a family confronted with a tragic and seemingly endless problem was given a new start in life.

The brief, personally-worded message, which is the first of its kind to appear on TOWN TOPICS' front page, is the Christmas family's heartfelt expression of thanks for the assurance with which it now looks upon the future. Since the appeal was first published on December 11, $2,079.05 has been contributed by more than 400 Princetonians. Conceivably symbolic of the entire spirit of giving is the ".05"—a nickel placed on the edge of a desk in TOWN TOPICS' office by a child hardly big enough to see over it.

Help came from all parts of Princeton, from nearby Penns Neck, Kingston, Lawrenceville, Cranbury and Belle Mead; from a woman who doesn't live here but read the appeal while visiting a friend for the day and left $20 on her way out of town; and from Trenton, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Centreville, Maryland.

One woman gave all the pennies she had saved during 1952, and another brought in a new toy truck, beautifully gift-wrapped, for the eight-year-old boy in the family. Other toys, clothing and Christmas-tree decorations went to the Social Service Bureau for direct forwarding to the family, which this week knew the happiest Christmas it has ever had.

All of the money received has been deposited in The First National Bank, where the fund will be administered by TOWN TOPICS under supervision of the Social Service Bureau, which approves every expenditure. Permanent care of the incurably ill child is now assured, since Princetonians saw to it that she can be placed in a private home during the long waiting period before admission to one of the state institutions can be obtained.

Each year, the community has assured aid that lasts for months and in some cases years (four of the six TOWN TOPICS funds are still active); and each year, more has been contributed. Since 1947, the total given to alleviate hardship and sorrow is nearly $9,000.

"That Man" and His Public. Throughout this Christmas-loving nation, the legion of men who climb into Santa Claus suits are often far busier than the legendary character appears to have been in his North Pole workshop. Among them is Princeton's own St. Nick, whose blindness necessitates his handling his public by telephone.

For the past ten days, he has talked to small boys and girls in an almost ceaseless chain of calls, with every operator on the telephone company's switchboard alerted to the nature of the requests for "3375" and channeling them in accordingly. At the conclusion of his annual tour of duty, he received gifts and cash, with these merchants (in addition to those listed last week) contributing to his fund:

Edmund Cook and Co., The Flower Basket, Elsie Goupil, Heereman's Florist, Dr. Nathan Kasrel, Luttmann's Luggage, Nills' Colonial Bakery, Royal Scarlet, Sager's, Gene Seal Florist, The Silver Shop, Viedt's Chocolate Shop and Yeoman's Liquor Store. Individuals also contributed anonymously.

Eager youngsters called for an hour or more after the intended 5 o'clock closing time each afternoon, with Mr. Schultz never wearying of talking to them and giving his special "Santa Claus laugh." But others occasionally failed to observe the time set for reaching him:

One woman called TOWN TOPICS at 10:30 in the morning to announce frantically, "I've called and

YOU HAVE YOUR AUTOMOBILE checked every 1,000 miles or so, and the State requires you to have it inspected every six months. But how often do you have an expert take stock on yourself?
It isn't mandatory, of course. But you owe it to your loved ones to have your family physician give you a thorough check up once a year. It's your best promise for that happy and HEALTHY new year that everyone has been wishing you.
We trust it will be, of course, and a prosperous one, too!

called 3375 and get no answer. My child is almost hysterical, and insists that there isn't any Santa Claus."

Another call was received by the family from whose home Mr. Schultz does his talking. It came from a small but high-powered operator who apparently figured he could get in his bid for a few extra presents while his parents weren't listening. His plan was sound enough—it was 6:40 a.m.

Carrick and Chislett Named. Two Princetonians have been nominated to serve as co-chairmen of the Committee for Consolidation of the Princeton Community. Alan Carrick will represent the borough and Richard Chislett the township. Louis Pensak, another township resident, is the choice for treasurer.

Formal election of these officers and progress reports on the circulation of petitions are scheduled for the committee's next meeting Monday night at 8:15. It will be held at the Y.W.C.A., 202 Nassau Street, and is open to the public.

Policy on Housing Units. To end existing misunderstanding over the manner in which applications for the Hageman Homes (the low-income apartment units in the Clay-Witherspoon area) are being handled, the Borough Housing Authority has made these points:

- The maximum income permissible for tenants has been set not by Princeton officials but by the federal government. For the largest families, it is $3,600 annually; lower figures govern smaller families and individuals, but these have not been made public because of a tendency in other communities of applicants to mis-state their incomes.
- While some 200 applications have been received for the 50 units (which will be opened by February 1), at least half of the prospective tenants have already been rejected because their incomes are in excess of the established limits. The Authority stresses the fact that such applicants may well be in need of better housing but that the income limits must be the deciding factor and that it has no power to change them.
- Other applicants will be rejected when a check on their income figures is made with their employers. In several instances bonuses and other sources of income have not appeared on the application forms.
- When a family's income has been finally approved, the remaining eligible applicants are measured on a basis of their present housing conditions. The Authority reports that a Federal standard for checking unsatisfactory living conditions and overcrowding is used. As a result a mathematical scale is followed for accepting applicants, and there is virtually no opportunity for the Authority to use its own discretion in selecting applicants. Personal influence has no bearing on any decisions.
- For those whose applications are rejected, the Authority points out that it is acutely aware that disappointment will exist but that the backlog of applications should "make possible the construction within a reasonable length of time of additional units." It is also hopeful that evidence at hand will warrant the construction of middle-income housing by private interests; and finally, that "those who are disappointed in not receiving units will recognize that some progress at least has been made toward the solution of this vexing problem."

It's Done With Mirrors. Princeton's three Plymouth dealers (Messrs. Lahiere, Shelton and Turney) will be amused at this evidence of their ability to stock the community with the popular all-metal Suburbans:

A University secretary was asked by her boss to deliver something for him, and to use his blue Plymouth parked with the keys in it near Alexander Hall. Shortly thereafter, he was called out of the office and encountered a surprised and somewhat embarrassed girl returning in a blue Plymouth suburban just as he was driving off in his.

News of the Theatres

THE PLAYHOUSE

Against All Falges (Thurs.-Sat.) features that dashing male, Errol Flynn, in another to-do with pirates, but with plenty of room for Flynn to be irresistible. The pirates are doing all right at the outset with a camouflaged cannon guarding their harbor. Flynn as a British Navy officer puts 'em out of business, though. Maureen O'Hara is the lady pirate. Technicolor, of course.

Million Dollar Mermaid (Sun.-Tues.) includes a flock of fantasic production numbers, but not enough to justify a running time of close to two hours. Esther Williams plays the Australian water queen Annette Kellerman, with suitable proficiency in a swimming pool and a rather under-water approach to dialogue. Victor Mature serves as her promoter and a source for romantic complications. Walter Pidgeon also lends his presence to the Technicolor happenings.

Stars and Strips Forever (Wed.-Sat.) finds Clifton Webb playing the life of John Philip Sousa with a good deal of humor. In the usual rather aimless fashion of the Technicolor film biography, the high-points of the famous bandmaster's life are presented to the tune of his marches, obviously. The romantic sub-plot involves Debra Paget and Robert Wagner, while Ruth Hussy plays Mrs. Sousa.

THE GARDEN

The Blazing Forest (Fri.-Sat) features a dandy Technicolor forest fire. Much goings on about the logging business and who's-in-love-with-whom precede the blaze, which brings together the right people and polishes off the villains and a rather large chunk of forest. John Payne, Susan Morrow and Agnes Moorehead handle the dramatics of a very usual sort.

The Steel Trap (Mon.-Tues.) is designed so that moviegoers will identify themselves with a bank officer who steals a million dollars. Joseph Cotten is the thief in question and Teresa Wright is his wife. He finds a flaw in the extradition treaty with Brazil, swipes the dough, is held up in his getaway and returns the money before the start of business on Monday. End of picture.

The Thief of Venice (Wed.-Thurs.) is rococo story-telling, simple-minded in spots and sometimes splendid to look at. Maria Montez and Paul Christian are featured in 16th century intrigues on a lavish scale. Lots of back alley behaviour and wild chases through town. Well-filmed, almost entirely in Venetian locales.

Abbott and Costello Meet Captain Kidd (Fri.-Sat.) and beat a few more slapstick routines to death. The bundle of nonsense takes the partners into romance and intrigue with the famed pirate. As a bonus, the film also contains a raucous caricature of Captain Kidd, done with enthusiasm by Charles Laughton. They've even added color to the inane goings-on.

Fine Record. The Princeton Defense Council reports that the community's unbroken (and unmatched) record of maintaining a constant watch of New Jersey's skies through the Ground Observer Corps is to be credited to a group of 16 men and women who have organized the round-the-clock schedule since last July. Under their guidance, dozens of others have completed regular two-hour tours of duty once a week.

The task continues to be a vital one in the eyes of the U.S. Air Defense Command, which has pointed out that "our elaborate and expensive radar network would be useless without the eyes of the G.O.C." The captains directing Princeton's share in the 27-state project are responsible for continuous operation of the post near the Springdale Golf Course one day each week. On occasion, they have made 20 to 30 telephone calls to find watchers when those scheduled are unable to serve.

Heyward Greenland is in charge of the entire operation. Those assisting him are Mrs. George Bush, Mrs. J. Cameron Goodwin, Mrs. Robert Whitehead, Jr., Rowan Boone, Mrs. Trevor Hambling, Mrs. C. C. Martinelli, Mrs. Joseph Stemmle, Edward Gryzbek, John Moore, Mrs. Mary Boehme, Mrs. William Agar, Mrs. Robert McAllen, Mrs. Herbert McAneny, Mrs. John Fine and Mrs. William Babcock.

Additional volunteers are still urgently needed, with the only necessary action a telephone call (3495) or a postcard mailed to Civilian Defense Headquarters, Borough Hall.

Group Arts Term to Start. Information on 26 workshops to be offered by Princeton Group Arts will be mailed throughout the community next week. Additional copies may be obtained at 14 Spring Street.

The winter term will start Monday, January 5, and will last until March 21. Instruction for children and adults will be provided in various types of painting, ceramics and dance.

Holy Name Officers. Patrick J. Coughlan has been installed as the 1953 president of St. Paul's Holy Name Society. Others officers are John J. Harvey, vice-president; Burling D. Prince, treasurer; Edward Clohossey, secretary, Augustus B. McKee, past president; Joseph F. Larkin, marshall. Father Edward C. Henry is the spiritual adviser.

Committee chairmen include the Rev. Robert Murray, ways and means, assisted by John F. McCarthy, Jr.; Joseph Stemmle, program and entertainment, assisted by Walter McKee; Duncan Doyle, refreshments; John J. Harvey, vigil; John J. Lanahan, boy scouts; Augustus B. McKee, retreat; with Mr. McKee also heading the Mercer County Federation delegates, assisted by Ray Schmidt; Charles Stryker, publicity, assisted by Henry Siegle; Joseph Stemmle and Joseph Coughlan, reception; Mr. Stemmle and Mr. McKee, trustees.

Plans are being made to form a Junior Holy Name Society for teenage boys. The present organization will provide the necessary guidance.

New Year's Day Meetings. Princeton's two governing bodies will meet Monday night to complete various year-end details and will then hold their traditional reorganization sessions on Thursday at noon. Appointive and elected officials will be sworn into office on this occasion, and Mayor P. MacKay Sturges will deliver his formal New Year's Day message.

Only one member of either governing body is retiring. Councilman George R. Griffing bowing out after two three-year terms. He will be replaced by Professor Alfred E. Sorenson.

Councilman J. Dayton Voorhees will start his fourth term. In Princeton Township, Committeeman John H. Wallace, Jr., will be sworn in for a new term, his second.

Boy Scout movement, will hold its annual dinner Monday night at 7 at the Nassau Tavern. The founder of the order, E. Urner Goodman, will be the guest of honor.

The principal speaker will be Dr. J. Berkeley Gordon, Director of the New Jersey State Hospital at Marlboro, whose topic will be "The "Values of the Wilderness." Col. Russell A. Snook, New Jersey State Police superintendent, will serve as toastmaster, while Mayor Sturges will welcome those attending from out of town to the dinner. William M. Riggs, assistant health officer for the borough and district chairman of Health and Safety of the Boy Scouts of America, is the dinner committee chairman.

Princeton TV? A survey conducted jointly by Princeton University and WNBT, the key station of the National Broadcasting Company television network, has been launched to explore the problems and possibilities of educational television.

The project will get under way with an examination of the field by Princeton faculty representatives, with WNBT making its staff and facilities available. Under an WNBT grant, Thomas Riggs, Jr., assistant professor of English, and Richard Harbinger, assistant professor of Air Science, will conduct the survey for the University, working with Richard Pack, director of programs and operations for WNBT and WNBC.

The problems of educational television extend beyond the selection of effective formats and techniques and both parties have indicated that they have an experimental attitude towards the project. Should the research and experimentation with actual programs work out successfully, viewers may eventually be able to see a Princeton TV show.

Miscellany. Seven Princetonians are on the preliminary panel of 35 Mercer County residents from which the next grand jury will be drawn: Brunson S. McCutchcon, 89 Olden Lane; Edward H. Eckfeldt, Jr., 101 Bayard Lane; John S. Parker, 151 Patton Avenue; Paul Rudnick, 112 Linden Lane; William D. Lippincott, Arreton Road; Donald W. Griffin, 44 Washington Road; and John S. Mount, 37 Wiggins Street.

The fall rummage sale staged by by the Hospital Aid Committee netted over $2,200, more than any similar event has raised in Princeton. Mrs. Frank L. Eidmann, committee president, has expressed appreciation for the community's support and has announced that proceeds of the sale will be used to help reduce the sum pledged to the hospital's enlargement fund.

University young people of high school and college age will attend a square dance Monday night from 8:30 to 12:30 in the balcony of Dillon Gymnasium. The University League committee in charge has Mrs. Samuel Atkins and Mrs. George Thomas as co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. Julian Boyd, Mrs. Landon Dennison, Mrs. Harold Gulliksen, Mrs. E. Harris Harbison, Mrs. Joseph Strayer and Mrs. John Wheeler.

Dr. Lawrence S. Jordan of 72 Birch Avenue has been appointed as instructor and recreation director of the Parental School of Newark. Dr. Jordan, who will be in charge of the school's recreational activities, attended Boston and Columbia Universities and was graduated from Northwestern this year. He will continue to live in Princeton.

Eight Princeton boys will take a 10,000-mile trip next summer within 50 miles of the Arctic Circle, where they will camp, fish and pan for gold. Under the guidance of Y.M.C.A. Secretary Bert H. Snow, those who will ride and hike into Canada and Alaska are Jon Hurley, Peter Peck, Nick Kovalakides, Jay Warren, Richard Rudnick, Robert Cantor, Bruce Larson and Stafford Keegin.

Lawrence D. Sturhahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Sturhahn of The Great Road, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army upon graduation from Roles Reversed. The winter sports season is less than a month old but Princeton hockey and basketball teams are already at their accustomed business of swapping the roles cast for them. Last year, for example, the hockey team appeared to have a bright future but wound up third in the Pentagonal League and just over the .500 mark for the season. The quintet, on the other hand, upset all predictions and the Eastern League favorites by grabbing the title before the campaign had ended.

This winter, the pitch seemed to be relatively smooth sailing for the basketball team and defensive weakness that might well hobble the hockey forces for another season. To date, the Tiger five has had a series of hard knocks while the skaters could hardly have been more impressive.

There is plenty of time for a change, of course, and in the case of the basketball team, there is reason to hope that it will occur. The Nassau quintet has been without the services of its high-scoring captain, Fred Tritchler, and its more inexperienced members are thoroughly in need of competition.

The 1-3 record is not, however, entirely chargeable to Tritschler's absence and his return is unlikely to give the team the ability needed to trim the kind of upposition it will meet in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C., next week. The opener is set for Monday against North Carolina State (currently ranked among the top five nationally), with two games to be played against opponents drawn among Wake Forest, Brigham Young, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Duke.

Added competition has been scheduled for the hockey team, which will go to Troy, N. Y., to partake in the second annual Rensselaer Polytech tournament. The three-day robin starts next Thursday, New Year's Day, and will carry through Saturday.

Opposition will come from R.P.I (which Princeton defeated, 2-1, in a slam-bang overtime contest); Yale and St. Patrick's College of Ottawa. The Elis are defending Pentagonal champions and the Canadians are perennially strong, so that the Tigers will benefit thoroughly from the added games. They will not see action again in Baker Rink until Saturday, January 10, when they tackle Boston University.

The two-day split with an able Northeastern sextet (which had previously conquered both Brown and Yale) saw the Orange and Black come off with the larger share of the honors. It prevailed in total goals by an 8-4 margin, since it dropped the Friday night encounter, 3-2, and then came roaring back to even the series with a one-sided 6-1 triumph.

It fired nearly three shots at goalie Ray Picard of the visitors for every one that the Massachusetts skaters got off at Blair Torrey. In the first game, the total saves were 43 to 15, and in the second contest the figures were 35 for Picard (plus the half dozen he let go by) to 16 for Torrey.

Picard's performance Friday night was one of the best seen in Baker Rink in many years as he kicked out or deflected a rain of shots on the Northeastern goal. He was lucky on occasion but he had to be good to be lucky, and it made for a full evening of good sports action.

The visitors were in front all the way in this battle, leading 2-0 before giving up one just before the first period ended, and then moving out to 3-1 in the third round. The Tigers again narrowed the gap to 3-2 but could not beat Picard a third time. Bill Call got the first Princeton counter and Hank Bothfeld the second.

The Saturday fray was strictly an Orange and Black affair, as Dick Vaughan's operatives scored twice in each period and had a 4-0 margin before the losers got their hone tally. Pete Fairfax, wing on the first line, caged two and was credited with an assist; Hank Bothfeld had one goal and two assists, while the other goals were credited to Bill Gall, Tom Davis and Dick Court. The loss was Northeastern's first in five games.

The Tigers' increased ability this winter stems from the improvement of a number of players (among them defensemen Dick Court, Eddie Stimpson and Derek Price, plus Bill Bancroft on the second line) and the general will to win displayed by the entire squad. The forwards are checking back with consistent ability and many an attack on the goal has been broken up by able poke-checking before a shot is launched. Powerful Yale and an improved Harvard team may be too much for the Princetonians this season but continuation of the present brand of play will have them in the thick of the fight throughout the campaign.

Lafayette's basketball team became Princeton's first victim last Wednesday night but the Tigers couldn't hold form against Rutgers on Friday and were trimmed by 15 points after taking a five-point halftime lead. The victory over the Leopards was 79 to 47, while the loss at New Brunswick was 83 to 68.

Play against Lafayette was generally sloppy but the Tigers had all the better of what coordination was shown. Despite a good advance report on their ability, the losers made only 21 percent of their shots from the floor and were well under the .500 mark from the free-throw line. Princeton's lead from the middle of the third period on averaged around 30 points.

Rutgers' basketball fortunes are on the upswing this year but the Scarlet is not figured to rank with teams good enough to finish among the first five in the Ivy League. However, it had little trouble staging a fourth-period rally that trimmed the Nassau quintet handily Friday evening.

Princeton's margin was 33-38 at the intermission but Rutgers moved ahead to stay soon after the final quarter began and had a comfortable lead well before the final whistle. Fourth-period scoring favored the victors, 30 to 13.

Well over half of Princeton's total was supplied by two players, Bud Haabestad collecting 25 and Don Reutlinger 18. Haabested has been in double figures every game, and is averaging 16.4 per contest.

But Foster Cooper is still having major difficulties, and his sophomore replacement, Dick Batt, is nowhere near ready for varsity competition. Phil Zuravleff, a fine floor man, is working so hard to make up for various Nassau defensive lapses that he has fouled out in the last two games, with the Tigers invariably committing more personals than their opponents.

Tritschler's return will give the team added scoring strength and greater poise but the able Nassau captain cannot accomplish a complete rejuvenation by himself. Hope centers around the fact that slow-starting Princeton teams in the past have progressed steadily until they have swept all Eastern League opposition before them but this winter, Penn and Ernie Beck will be particularly hard to budge.

The first big date on the Princeton calender is Wednesday, January 14, the night the Quakers come here to open the Tigers' league season. Chances are the Orange and Black will have to take that one to keep the powerful Philadelphians from running away with the title before they get another shot at them in the Palestra on the last day of the season.

Schoolboy Tournament. Eight leading eastern schools, seven from this country plus Trinity College School of Port Hope, Ontario, will partake in the fifth annual Lawrenceville Invitation Tournament next weekend in Baker Rink. Play begins early Friday morning and will end Saturday afternoon, with action virtually continuous throughout the two days.

Belmont Hill, last winter's champion, has been seeded first, with the Canadians second. Noble and Greenough is third, with Deerfield Academy fourth. Other entries are the host school, Lawrenceville; Exeter, Andover and Nichols.

The contestants, who will be housed in Prospect Street eating clubs, will compete for the Robert Riel Memorial Trophy in honor of one of the founders of the tournament. Charles R. Erdman, Jr. is in charge of arrangements, assisted by R. Kenneth Fairman, Richard F. Vaughan, Harry S. Fraker, Fred M. Blaicher, John R. Stiegman and Dan D. Coyle, all of Princeton; and Lawrence Tihonen of Lawrenceville.

PHS Drops Two. Joe Drulis' Little Tiger quintet suffered a pair of defeats last week to reach the Christmas break with an 0-3 record. The high school lost to Hightstown by 50 to 43 and to an Alumni five by 62-47.

Hightstown put on a second-half spurt to top Princeton for the first time in the post-war period. PHS had a 15-10 margin at the end of the first quarter but gave way to Hightstown marksmanship from the outside. Dick Lanahan was high for Princeton with 14 points.

The Little Tigers showed their greenness against the strong alumni team. Accuracy from the foul line told the story, however, as the margin in field goals was only 21 to 20 for the victors. Tom Perks, last year's center, paced the graduates by netting 25 points, 13 of them on free throws.

Frank Perna and Buster Thomas also excelled for the Alumni. Lanahan once again paced the high school, sinking eight field goals for 16 points. Bob Stewart scored 12 for PHS.

The junior varsity registered a pair of victories, both in the dying seconds of the contests. Bill Rodefeld connected on a three point combination to give the jayvees a 39-36 victory over Hightstown and Bob Rosener sank a last minute field goal to win a game from the high school freshmen, 33-31.

Elastic Hosiery

FULL-FOOTED

You do not have to wear a second pair of hose over our ELASTIC HOSIERY. This eliminates unattractive hulkiness and unsightly wrinkles.

SHEER

Knit of nylon and rubber with mercerized cotton and nylon cuff, NEW ELASTIC HOSIERY is hardly discernible from service-weight nylons.

FORM-FITTED

NEW ELASTIC HOSIERY is shaped in fashion to fit snugly at the heel and ankle, to give firm two-way stretch support over the calf. They are cool, comfortable and attractive on the leg.
